

LASER PROCEDURES

Laser procedures benefit greatly from the post treatment application of NeoGenesis Recovery and Intensive Moisturizer. Use NeoGenesis Recovery, followed by Intensive Moisturizer twice a day topically. Recovery will reduce redness, irritation and downtime, and enhance the effects of the procedure. Intensive Moisturizer will hydrate the skin and provide proper barrier function.

CO2 LASER WITH PRP

—————> 5 DAYS <—————

“As a clinic director, I wanted to try NeoGenesis on myself first. I received both a PRP and a CO2 Laser treatment. I am amazed at what Recovery and Intensive Moisturizer did to reduce my downtime and discomfort post procedure.”

ANOTHER LEADING PRODUCT

“I had Fraxel Laser done on my hands so I could compare the Recovery and Intensive Moisturizer (on my left hand) with another leading product used post laser, (on my right hand). The day after the procedure my right hand was inflamed, red and felt like I had a severe sunburn. My left hand had very little redness, almost no inflammation and most importantly, NO PAIN! By Day 2 my right hand still felt tender and slightly sunburnt but, my left hand felt fantastic!”

“I’m a licensed Pharmacist and work with and used other skin care products in the past but my experience has left me in shock after personally seeing how NeoGenesis Recovery worked on my IPL Laser Burns. I honestly have never seen anything like it, worked so fast!”

"I am the owner and clinic director at Rocky Mountain Laser College. We are a laser esthetic training college in Colorado. I have specialized in Co2 fractional treatments since 2009, performing multiple hundreds each year. I have tested many different human growth stem cell products in the past, and found some that worked and others that did nothing. In testing NeoGenesis product line, I gave my mother an aggressive Co2 treatment. I applied the NeoGenesis Recovery within 7 minutes of the start of the treatment. Studies have shown it takes about 15 minutes for the fractional holes to close, and products should be applied within that window. I then had her apply NeoGenesis Recovery morning and night after washing with NeoGenesis Cleanser. Compared to her previous Co2 treatments in the past, she felt this was the most comfortable downtime she has had. She also healed much faster than she ever has, about 2 days ahead of schedule. Within 5 days she was completely back to normal, just having a slight redness, that makeup covered without a problem. My mom felt that the NeoGenesis line, especially the Recovery serum, made her overall Co2 experience much more tolerable. She has said she will not do another Co2 fractional without using the NeoGenesis line.

I also tested on my Office Manager. Thanks to NeoGenesis, she was confident enough after the Co2 treatment with NeoGenesis Recovery to go to dinner with a male friend that night. She had minimal swelling next day, and no swelling the day after. She usually take about 5-7 days to heal. She felt completely healed in 3-4 days. I truly believe she got the collagen building we usually see in 3 months, in a single months' time.

After seeing the results my mom and office manager had I had to see the results for myself. I had a Co2 fractional with moderate settings. I did a blood draw, spun down to plasma then applied topically post Co2 fractional. Then when it dried I applied NeoGenesis Recovery. I reapplied Recovery right before bed. I woke up to no swelling only redness. I usually will take a Medrol dose pack for swelling post treatment, and decided this time not to take it. I was happy to find I didn't even need it. I washed with NeoGenesis Cleanser twice daily and then applied Recovery after each wash. I sprayed NeoGenesis Moisturizing Mist throughout the day as needed.

As I write this I am not even 36 hours post treatment, and look as though I am 5-7 days into healing. I am beyond pleased with my experience using the NeoGenesis product line post Co2 fractional. I will be including the Cleanser, the Recovery serum, and the Moisturizing Mist with all Co2 fractional procedures for my clients.

We are now including the NeoGenesis line in all our skin rejuvenation classes, students love the products. These products will be great for any laser clinic interested in reducing downtime and discomfort for their patients."

Next Generation Stem Cell Science

Who We Are

NeoGenesis is in the business of providing skin and hair products that enhance people's lives. Our products are safe and effective on all skin types and all skin conditions.

NeoGenesis skin care products return to the skin those nutrients once created by our stem cells in abundance during our youth, but that have diminished with aging. An optimal concentration of these nutrients in the skin as provided by the NeoGenesis products is critical for maximum healing benefit following LASER procedures.
